DEFECTIVE?

Certain it is that many people experience no trouble with their eyes. Naturally a very large proportion of those who consult opticians or oculists have defective eyes, because the trouble they have leads them to the consultation.

There have been quite a number of people in to see me of late who have nothing at all the matter with their eyes.

If you have any doubt as to the condition of your eyes it will afford you a great deal of satisfaction to know positively. I shall be glad to tell you.

THE BAND CONCERT

And Oyster Supper—A Handsome Piece of Work.

The Gate City Band concert and oyster supper at the Banner Warehouse last night was a big success. It was liberally patronized and the oyster and music highly enjoyed.

An interesting feature of the exercises was the execution of a life size oil portrait of a handsome woman, by Mr. Bond, of the firm of Rees & Bond, sign painters. The work was done "while the band played," and the marvelous job was completed in one hour and fifty minutes. The portrait was presented to the Gate City Band, it is now on exhibition in the window at the store of J. M. Hendrix & Co., where it may be seen.

TRINITY COLLEGE NOTES

Meeting of Historical Society—President Kilgo's Daughter Present.

Correspondence Telegram.

Trinity Park, Durham, N. C., Oct. 7.—Dr. J. S. Bassett, Professor of History at Trinity, is to deliver a series of lectures at Johns Hopkins University, on the "Negro in the South since the War."

The Historical Society held its first monthly meeting last Saturday evening. Prof. Bassett read a paper on the congressional career of Thos. L. Clugman. This paper will be published in the Archive. The following officers were elected: President, W. N. Boyd; Vice President, S. L. Mims; Secretary and Treasurer, S. A. Woodard; Librarian, J. F. Pegram. A large number of relics were presented to the Museum, one of the most interesting of which is a walking stick, handed to the society by Mr. S. F. Pitt, of Battleboro, N. C. This stick was cut by Andrew Jackson on his way to what proved to be the battle of New Orleans. It was cut from a hickory shrub, and the distinguished General gave it to Capt. W. L. Shafter, one of his command. Capt. Shafter had a silver head put on it and on this he had his own name engraved. There were thirteen names on the stick, and on each of these he carved one of the letters of the name of the donor. The stick at length came into the possession of Mr. P. F. Pitt, who was the father of the donor. This is a very valuable relic, and its owner has refused some tempting offers for it. It was placed in the care of the Trinity Museum through the solicitations of Rev. E. E. Rose, of the N. C. Conference.

A committee was appointed to select a speaker on the occasion of the civic celebration, Feb. 22, 1900.

Prof. C. F. Edwards has returned from Philadelphia and New York, where he has been purchasing apparatus for the Scientific Department.

Mrs. M. P. McDowell, who recently resigned the chair of English at West-ville, is at the Park, where she will spend the winter.

Fannie Kilgo, the little daughter of President Kilgo, who has been very sick for some time, is much better.

Mr. J. B. McCrary, Class '91, of Lexington, Referee in Bankruptcy, has been on a visit to the Park.

NAVAL APPROPRIATIONS.

The Budget for Next Year is $24,537,187.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Acting Secretary Allison has prepared a full statement of estimates which will be submitted to Congress for the maintenance of the naval establishment for the fiscal year. This amounts to $73,045,185, which is an increase over the appropriations for the current year of $25,537,187. Included in the increase for the next year are appropriations of $12,268,474 for public works and navy yards and stations. There is also an estimate of $2,021,000, for the new Naval Academy.

The item for the increase of the navy including armor, guns and machinery, is $22,983,101. The estimate for the bureau of construction and repairs is increased over the current appropria-tions about $2,000,000; for steam engineering, 1,000,000; for pay of the navy about $700,000, while the estimates for ordnance are decreased about $700,000. The estimate for the Norfolk navy yard is $1,349,000.

Says Mingling of Troops From Sections Attest Bloody Shirts Burial.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 6.—Hon. Daniel L. Russell, Governor of North Carolina, accompanied by Col. C. Cook, of his staff, arrived in Norfolk today from New York, where he attended the Dewey festivities. They left for Raleigh Friday night. The governor did not care to talk politics, but said the mingling of veterans and militia from the North and South in New York attested the complete burial of the bloody shirts in the late war with Spain. The southern state guards were accorded much honor and Admiral Dewey was especially pleased with their presence at the reception.

Cases of typhoid fever were reported from fifty-seven counties, with a total of over two hundred cases. Wake county was not in the list. Several counties reported "many," and a number reported "a few cases."

ALABAMA FOR MR. BRYAN

Majority of the State Favors Passage of a Free Coinage Bill.

THE ALEXANDRIA CENTENNIAL

Everything Progressing Favorably for the Event—Bids Fair to be Successful and Pleasant.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Mr. John C. Pugh, son of Ex-Senator Pugh, of Alabama, is in Washington. While his father was in the Senate, Mr. Pugh was a well known young man of Washington, and had many friends here. He received a portion of his education in his city, and was highly regarded. He is now one of the most prominent members of the bar of the progressive southern city of Birmingham, and it is said has every promise of success, and bids fair to become in future years a political factor in Alabama. Like his distinguished father, Mr. Pugh is a democrat, and enjoys the acquaintance of all of the prominent political leaders in his native state. He says that he has not made millions yet, but that he is by no means a "millionaire's barrister." He has worked his way by his own exertions into a good and solid remunerative practice, and has not depended upon his father's prominence to aid him in securing a law practice. He says that politics in Alabama are getting warm, and that the most intense is felt in the senatorial struggle, as the result of which nobody can predict successfully at this stage of the game.

Senator Morgan, Governor Johnson, Ex-Governor Oates and Congressmen, thank him, he says, are all active candidates for the senatorship, and each have a circle of devoted friends who are confident of their election.

The majority of the state, says Mr. Pugh, are loyal to Bryan, and are for the passage of a free coinage bill. He says there is no doubt but Bryan will get the delegation from Alabama in the convention, and will carry the state by a large majority at the presidential election.

Mr. Pugh is here on a visit combining pleasure with business, and will remain for several days. While he is here he is stopping at the Shoreham hotel.

It is said that the negro troops may be invited to Alexandria to attend the semi-centennial to be held there shortly. The report is not believed here, and prominent members of the Confederate organization doubt it. They say if the negro troops have been invited as they hear, that it would break up the centennial at once, as members of the Confederate organization would not attend, and Virginia people generally would refuse to visit Alexandria. From all that can be learned here, however, there is nothing in the report.

People from Alexandria say that everything is progressing favorably for the centennial, and the affair bids fair to be both a pleasant, and successful one.

Senator Mallory of Florida, who is in the city attending the meetings of the Industrial Labor Commission, of which he is a member, says that the opinion of the majority of the people of Florida, according to his observations, is against the president's Philippine policy. He says the people of the state are opposed to expansion, and will not give their support to any scheme or policy which contemplates the adding of the Philippine Islands to the domain of the United States.

THE PRESIDENT'S OBSTINACY.

It is both disgusting and strange with what dogged persistency McKinley hangs on to certain of his ideas when their rottenness have become so remarkably apparent. If the chief executive were always right, as Mr. Clay wanted to be, then he could be admired for his stubborn inflexibility, though a threatening nation stood over him. But the president is not omniscient, he has quite a well-defined touch of the weakness of human nature in his make-up, as have the rest of us poor mortals, and there is the most absolute and convincing evidence that a very large vein of partiality and prejudice flows in his official treatment of two national celebrities—General Otis and Admiral Schley.

Here are two candidates for plain justice. The one is notorious for vacillation, effeminacy, incompetence; the other for unsullied honor and bravery and superior generalship. The one has shown to an admiring world that when the hour of danger comes, he is not found wanting; the other, that he is not the man for the place. The one annihilated as fine a fleet of ironclads as ever crossed the Atlantic; the other has allowed disrepute to seize the star-spangled banner on a foreign shore. Schley deserves, if any man ever deserved, a position becoming his honor and dignity as one of the greatest naval heroes America ever produced; Otis deserves to be forced to relinquish his high and honorable position, by reason of the palpable fact that he is entirely incompetent to fill it. He wants to be relegated to the shades of obscurity, while Schley merits a place second only to that of Dewey's.

Yet Mr. McKinley exhibits no hesitancy in dealing with the situation. He is just as blindly perverse to the admiral's worth, as to the "general's" incompetence.

General Otis is not, we think, a bad man, by any means. On the contrary he is, we doubt not, a gentleman of high personal character. But the American people are full well aware that he is not capable of mastering the Philippine situation. There is abundant proof that he is no match for Aguinaldo, and he has shown infinitely more tact and ingenuity, and exhibited a much greater fondness for dealing with the newspaper reporters, who are trying to inform the people of the United States of the true condition of affairs under his regime, than with the Filipinos, and spends days and days in the peaceful camp, far from the whistling balls, performing various absolutely worthless minutiae, when his services are sadly needed in the field where brave American subordinate generals are sweating for the order to charge, and where brave American privates are dying for the want of a skillful commander to direct them to victory.

Mr. McKinley, like Milligan's goat, has a head of his own, and as long as he is allowed to occupy the regal chair at Washington there is little hope that Schley, the hero of Santiago, will receive the official honors to which he is entitled, or that Otis, the failure of Luzon, will be called home to disgrace.

Yesterday morning at Washington Admiral Dewey met by appointment at the navy department members of the committee on the Dewey Home Fund, to express to them his wishes in regard to the residence to be presented to him. All arrangements for securing the admiral's future home were made. He wants one as soon as possible, and prefers one already built. There is $50,000 with which a residence will be bought, and of course this will buy a very commodious habitation and while the admiral is a very big man, he is hardly large enough to fill a $50,000 house. Of course the idea of him dwelling alone, in outrageous celebrity, is absurd anyhow, and his disinclination to wait for the slow erection of a new house might be considered significant, in view of his age and the natural impatience attendant thereupon.

The admiral will leave on Monday for Vermont and will return to Washington on Monday, when the committee will lay before him a list of half a dozen homes to be selected from. And just here we would suggest that the ever kind committee assume other domestic burdens of the admiral and when he returns have prepared for his circumsppection a list of half a hundred dozen widows to select from, also.

Astronomers say that to those who have the patience to sit up till after midnight on the night of November 15th next there will be presented a scene of rare beauty in the great meteoric showers billed to appear on that night. The great observatories of this and other countries are making preparations on an extensive scale for observations, this being the second and greatest year of the period during which the earth passes three times through or near the Leonid shower, and if the conditions are favorable, it is expected that the observations will give results of great value to astronomical science. Last year, when the earth passed through the front end of the comet, many observations were handicapped by cloudy weather on the best night. This year the earth passes through the centre of the comet.

The Raleigh Post this morning, in the first flaming line of a swell head over its Transvaal news, says that "War is Inevitable." We hope our most esteemed contemporary has carefully studied the situation.

Which is the bigger liar, Nellie or the weather man?

A MOST EXCELLENT SERMON.

The Lord Will Help Those Who Help Themselves.

Correspondence Telegram.
 "And Abraham said, my son, God will provide himself a lamb for the burnt offering; so they went both of them together." Gen. 22:8

The story of Abraham in its entirety is interesting, but, especially, that part of it with reference to his obedience, when God called on him to offer Isaac as a sacrifice on an altar of fire. It is impossible to overtax credulity when reading such history of God's dealing with his people. If it were recorded anywhere else, save in the Bible, it would be believed no more than the tales of mythology. But being where it is, we accept it without quibbling. The stories of Samson slaying Philistines with the jaw-bone of an ass; on Daniel in the lion's den; the Hebrew children in the fiery furnace, and Elisha calling out the bears to slay the 42 children, calling him, "the bald-head," a strange specimen of Bible treasures. But they are there and no one is authorized to eliminate them. And if one is incredulous, let him keep his incredulity to himself, and not disturb the serenity of those who do believe. The higher critic is a greater menace to the "old time religion" than the infidel. The infidel and skeptic, not generally the agnostic—for he claims to know nothing, say, that reason, the most important part of man, rejects all this, and reason should be followed. Well, it is reason, that we accept the Bible. Without it to direct, there is, absolutely no glimmer of hope. True there is much of it unintelligible to the finite mind, but when this part is reached it is well to think, that as far as the east is from the west, so great is the difference between the finite and infinite. The wisdom of man had best hold off when it comes in conflict with the Bible. The wisdom of man is foolishness with God.

The story goes that Abraham was commanded of God to take Isaac to the land of Moriah and offer him as a burnt offering upon one of the mountains which he would tell him of. He made all preparations for the journey and sacrifice, and proceeded on his way. On the third day Abraham saw the place of sacrifice. He told his servants to remain with the ass, while he and the lad would "go yonder and worship." Abraham put the wood on his son, and he carried the knife and the fire. Directly, Isaac asked this very pertinent question: "Behold, the fire and the wood, but where is the lamb for a burnt offering?" The answer by Abraham is when Abraham's faith shone the brightest. "My son, God will provide a lamb for the burnt offering." Great was Abraham's faith throughout the entire ordeal. But here it was the greatest. All preparation made—fire, wood and knife; and, put he says, "God will provide a lamb." Terrible was the strain, yet in his heart he then, surely, by that answer, gave evidence that he would never be compelled to kill and burn Isaac. And though the conclusion may not accord with the ideas of others it is the way it appears to the writer, when the old father stretched forth the arm with knife in hand, the voice of the angel was heard: "Lay not thine hand upon the lad; for now I know thou fearest God, seeing thou hast not withheld thy son, thine only son from me." And Abraham soon saw the ram and this was offered instead of his son. And the place was called Jehovah-jireh, that is: the Lord will see or provide. And this is the moral of the whole story, that in man's extremity God never fails to use the opportunity for showing what He does for faith.

The Lord will provide. That is the practical lesson. But in the matter of providing, it must not be forgotten that man must go in as partner. If he folds his arms and waits for the Lord to do it all he will find but little provisions. James says that faith without works is dead and that Abraham succeeded as a man of faith for the reason that he was a man of works. The man who does not work receives nothing at the hands of the Lord. We must be workers together with Him. It is a dark and gloomy way sometimes, but faith, real faith, never for the darkness, and, in the hour of trial, God is there to provide. It always comes out right. The Lord will care for the business man if not slothful in business. He will also provide for the doctor and lawyer. They will have patients and clients if faith is supplemented by work. There was once a young doctor well equipped for his profession. Success would have met him anywhere. But at night, when he was called to visit patients, his wife would not permit him to leave her. She could not be from him one hour. So it turned out his patients went for another doctor. If we make a name in the world diligence and obedience are both necessary.

Some time ago there appeared an item in the papers of a partridge flying into the hall of a home where lived a sick lady who for some time had wanted a bird. It was indeed providential that the bird had become lost from the covery. I was wanting a bird about that time myself, and wishing some of the boys would think of me and send me a brace. There was a knock on the door and a boy with four birds had come. They cost me fifty cents; but, having the money to pay for the birds was providential. Some time before I received a few dollars for writing an article. It had been written under disadvantages, but was my best. That's my idea of faith and provision. They call for work, work, work; and then God does the rest. Abraham kept on until there appeared an awful tragedy right at hand. Then God came to the rescue. It was tremendous faith when he said: "My son, God will provide." He never stopped his work, though, until God told him to hold his hand.

The Sunday School teacher told the child of the poor seamstress that Jesus would care for her and her mother. So when the mother on her sick bed told the child that the bread was out, she proceeded to act on the preaching of her teacher. So she wrote a letter something like this: "Dear Jesus: Mama is sick, and we are hungry. Please send us some bread." And signed her name, placed it in an envelope, directed it to Jesus and dropped it in the office. That evening when the postmaster was distributing the mail he found the letter. Tears came into his eyes. His voice trembled with emotion as he read the letter in the presence of the crowd. Many hands went down into pockets, and silver pieces were laid on the counter to keep the two in bread for weeks to come. Jesus sent it of course; but the little girl wrote the letter. "Let your requests be made known unto the Lord," and then get out and do something, is the only kind of faith worth anything and that wins success. And as the editor of the Charlotte Observer said, immediately after the blowing up of Spain by Dewey, "Success is the only standpoint from which to judge the deeds of men." God always provides for a man who has, in him the elements of success; provided he pushes things. Yes the Lord will provide.

EX-GOVERNOR JARVIS.

Satisfied that the Amendment Will be Adopted by the People.

Ex-Governor Thomas J. Jarvis, who is one of the four gentlemen prominently mentioned as speakers at the Marion Butler in the United States senate, arrived in the city yesterday from Greenville and is registered at the Yarbrough.

Governor Jarvis is here to attend the supreme court. He is in excellent health and his friends here are pleased to greet him.

That the constitutional amendment will be adopted Gov. Jarvis is fully satisfied. Speaking of the amendment last night, he said:

"I have no doubt but that the amendment will be adopted. The white people of Eastern Carolina will be practically unanimous when the time comes to vote upon the measure. The ignorant white man has got a great deal more sense than these republicans think for. They have too much sense to be controlled and manipulated by the gang that bosses the negro."—Post.

The Deep Waterways Convention will meet at Peoria, Ill., October 10 and 11.

You assume no risk when you buy Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. C. E. Holton will refund your money if you are not satisfied after using it. It is every where admitted to be the most successful remedy in use for bowel complaint and the only one that never fails. It is pleasant, safe and reliable.

A Clever Trick.

It certainly looks like it, but there is really no trick about it. Anybody can try it who has lame back or weak kidneys, malaria or nervous troubles. We mean he can cure himself right away by using Electric Bitters. This medicine tones up the whole system, acts as a stimulant to liver and kidneys, is a blood purifier and nerve tonic. It cures constipation, headache, fainting spells, sleeplessness and melancholy. It is purely vegetable, a mild laxative, and restores the system to its natural vigor. Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c a bottle at C. E. Holton's drug store.

James Reed Injured.

Mr. James Reed struck his leg against a cake of ice in such a manner as to bruise it severely. It became very much swollen and pained him so badly that he could not walk without the aid of crutches. He was treated by physicians, also used several kinds of liniment and two and a half gallons of whiskey in bathing it, but nothing gave it any relief until he began using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This brought almost a complete cure in a week's time and he believes that had he not used this remedy his leg would have had to be amputated. Mr. Reed is one of the leading merchants of Clay Court House, W. Va. Pain Balm is unequalled for sprains, bruises and rheumatism. For sale by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

No Cure—No Pay.

That is the way all druggists sell Grove's Tasteless Chili Tonic for Chills and Malaria. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults prefer it to bitter, nauseating tonics. Price, 50c.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. I most cheerfully recommend it to the public." For sale by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

AN OPEN LETTER.

Let's Have a Good Display of Educational Work at the State Fair.

Dear Friends in the School Work:—There is likely to be a great gathering of people at the state fair October 16th to 21st inclusive.

The educational department is second to none in importance and I hope you and your school may be induced to take some interest in this department.

The director of this department, Prof. W. T. Whitsett, has not been able to give much time to the work on account of sickness in his family. I, therefore, write this letter to aid in getting this matter before our schools.

Let us have a good display of educational work done in the different institutions of the state, both from the state and the private schools.

There never was a time perhaps in the history of our state when public sentiment has been in a better condition on the subject of education and this interest should be shown along with other great interests of the state at the fair.

If you will make an exhibit write at once to Capt. C. B. Denson or to myself.

I have no interest in this matter whatever except for the cause of education. Let whatever you do be done quickly, as the time is very short.

Yours very truly,
C. H. Mebane,
Supt. Public Instruction.

Raleigh, Oct. 6, 1899.

OUR LAST
Auction Sale
Of Lots for This Year.

The Central Land Company will offer for sale at Public Auction, on Tuesday, Oct. 17, 1899,

Thirty nice lots on the Vanhookville property. These lots are 100 feet front by 200 feet deep, all shaded by beautiful oak and hickory trees. The elevation of these lots gives a splendid view of the city and no finer location for suburban homes can be found around Greensboro. No by-bidding allowed. Every lot to be sold on its merits.

Terms, one-third cash, balance in 6 and 12 months.
If you buy one of these lots you can get nearly enough wood off of it to last you through the winter—nearly enough to pay for the lot.

Remember the date,
Tuesday, October 17, 1899

Free hacks will leave the McAdoo House and Court House Square at 2 p. m.
